Program: “The Love of Water Features”
Mark McCauley

Melissa McCauley started the business more than six years ago as a retail location at 1909 N. Washington St. Prior to that, she was building small ponds and doing a fair amount of landscaping. Melissa was more self taught starting from 150 gallon pond and continually building on what she learned. She took a couple classes in Shawnee from various pond professionals and has grown from there. Pond building is like a puzzle of rocks when put together right, bring about happiness.

She can't draw you a picture that resembles much besides arrows and circles, but always knows where her vision is going. Currently both Mark and Melissa meet with people at their locations rather than the storefront which is currently their temporary home. Mark has always enjoyed fish growing up and knew that someday he wanted to do something for a job that included them. After a couple years helping Melissa and working at Lowe's, he went full-time with Melissa and his construction company. Not so much the designer as he is the plumber and the electrician and the heavy lifter. Unfortunately the pond construction business is something he doesn't have a huge hand in anymore due to back and knee issues. Mark still enjoys working with the fish and aquaponics. Marks business, Master craft construction, also handles all the outdoor accompaniments Like decks, fences, pergolas and gazebos.

They have been a great team working together for almost 16 years. Married for 14 years, they have four kids and one grandson. In their free time, you can catch them driving to Colorado for the trout and the salmon.
